

Privacy Policy

We understand that in this age, data is constantly being collected from you. At Studio Waratah we like to stand aside from this and only collect what is essential for our app to function.

The main data we collect for cravebook is your email and username. Beyond this we collect the information provided to us by Apple, in the instance that you have opted in. We collect unidentifiable data surrounding your app usage. This may include the number of searches, what time you search and how many times per day you use the app. Any data that is collected is processed and stored by a Studio Waratah.
